

My name is Angela Allen. I earned a Bachelor of Science in Education degree from the Ohio State University in 1988, specializing in developmentally delayed and learning disabled students. I taught special education in grades Kindergarten through sixth grade in the public schools for nine years. After having two children I decided to get back into education by teaching preschool for several years and then two years ago I became an independent provider for a child with autism. I would like to speak with you if you think my qualifications and experience match what you are looking for in a provider. Please feel free to contact me via phone or email and I would be happy to provide you with my resume.
